STARR REPORT

HARRIS

November 3, 2006 -- Shooting stars

Let's applaud Samantha Harris for telling it like it is in the December issue of FHM. The "Dancing with the Stars" co-host, who also covers the red carpet for E! (with Ryan Seacrest), was asked about her many celebrity encounters at awards shows.

"I will say that [Katie Holmes' ex-boy friend] Chris Klein, right after the whole Katie Holmes debacle, was kind of tacky and really rude," she says. "Jane Fonda can be a nightmare. She's not friendly and she doesn't have time for anyone . . . I was disappointed." The issue hits newsstands Tuesday.

Gretchen Wiker, an Upper West Side writer/tutor, was in the "Oprah Winfrey Show" audience when Winfrey distributed $1,000 debit cards for her "Pay It Forward Challenge" (the show aired this past Monday), challenging her audience to use the money to "make a difference in the life of one person or many." Wiker has donated her $1,000 to Fountain Gallery's Glenn Moosnick Scholarship Fund for Artists (Fountain Gallery, on Ninth Avenue, represents artists living and working with mental illness). Wiker won the "Oprah" tickets in a school raffle and took a friend to the show; that friend, in turn, added another $1,000 to Wiker's donation.

That was Jane Seymour chatting up Grace Jones and Maud Adams at Wednesday's "Bond Girl Reunion" hosted by Delta Air Lines. Seymour, who recently guested on "How I Met Your Mother," will also appear on ABC's midseason sitcom, "In Case of Emergency," starring David Arquette.

* Showtime has renewed "Dexter" (Michael C. Hall) for a second season.
